

LINDA NUNES (CA)

Sometimes It's Rough, cold wax, mixed media, 16 x 16 inches

One need only research reliable sources to understand that Climate Change is Real! I was more than a little shocked at the statistics and predictions I learned from NASA and NOAA. I was truly dumbfounded by the alarmingly accelerated rate our Earth is warming as evidenced by the dwindling disappearance of mountain glaciers and ice caps. My piece 'Sometimes It's Rough' was inspired by a recent trip to Alaska as we stood in awe at the magnificent size and beauty of some of their glaciers. It is difficult to imagine that these could be gone in my or my children's lifetime and like dominoes, one predicament creates another devastating problem like our rising sea levels.

But I refuse to bury my head in the sand any longer and as I take a hard look at reality, it's not easy. And sometimes it's just plain rough!

Artist Statement
Linda Nunes